Report

An expert talk was arranged by Saraswati Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences on the topic “Global Healthcare”

The talk was delivered by Dr. Stephen Kerr. Dr. Stephen Kerr's guest lecture highlighted the disparities in global healthcare with low-income countries facing significant challenges due to limited resources and infrastructure. He stressed the need for international collaboration and investment to address these disparities and ensure equitable access to quality healthcare. Dr. Kerr also discussed the challenges posed by emerging diseases, antibiotic resistance, and climate change, emphasizing the importance of proactive measures and technological advancements to mitigate these threats. He urged listeners to engage in critical thinking and active participation in shaping the future of global healthcare, advocating for interdisciplinary collaboration, public awareness, and ethical practices..
