Pharmaceutical Sciences

College Name: Saraswati Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences

Event Name: World Population Day

Report of Event: The NSS Unit of Saraswati Institute of Pharmaceutical Sciences (SIPS) organized essay writing and drawing competitions on 11th July 2025 to mark World Population Day. The event aimed to raise awareness about the effects of overpopulation and promote creative thinking among students. The essay competition was based on the theme "Solutions to Overpopulation: A Step towards Sustainable Future." Students actively participated and presented insightful ideas related to population control and sustainability. In the drawing competition, participants creatively expressed messages highlighting the impact of population on the environment. The event received an overwhelming response from the students with enthusiastic involvement. Winners were awarded certificates, and participation of students made the event successful and impactful.

Outcomes of Event:

The competitions helped students understand the serious consequences of uncontrolled population growth. They encouraged critical thinking and awareness about global and national challenges. Essay writing enhanced students' ability to research, analyze, and present sustainable solutions. Drawing allowed them to visually communicate important social messages. These activities improved communication, creativity, and confidence in students. They also promoted a sense of responsibility towards environmental and social issues. Overall, the celebration
